

Steve Backley

LONDON 2012 -

An insight from the FRONT LINE

Steve Backley - Team GB Ambassador, Mentor and a key member of BBC Radio 5 Live's team, offers a powerful insight into the greatest Olympics the world has ever seen - London 2012.

A three time Olympic medallist and now an accomplished speaker, host and facilitator, Steve brings the energy and enthusiasm, seen on the sporting stage, straight to your event.

Steve is delighted to share what made London 2012 so special from an insider's perspective of the Games that will 'inspire a generation'. He can also reveal insights into the minds and skills of the coaches behind Team GB's incredible success.

With more than 8 years' experience as a corporate speaker, Steve is a highly inspirational and charismatic presenter and host. The passion that drove his career as an elite athlete, shines through, engaging audience members of all ages and backgrounds.

Previous clients describe him as "down to earth and a thoroughly nice guy" who leaves audiences "blown away". "Absolutely Inspirational" and a "consummate professional" you can be confident that Steve's speech will meet all objectives and exceed all expectations.

"I just wanted to pass on a huge and grateful thank you for everything yesterday. Our client thought you were absolutely sensational...."

Katherine Brown,
Senior Producer,
